Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, November 10, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

Advancing at all costs, surpassing oneself by giving one's best, that is what is presented to human beings. Their life's path on this Earth is made up of many challenges which they must face. Strength in the face of adversity develops in them gradually, and the notion of the Divine often becomes obvious – sometimes at a very young age, when the being has long been refined. It's a grace to engage early in a spiritual way; not many human beings have this opportunity. Many follow family or ethnic traditions; each one goes through the experience that is due them, and they often end up finding their way over time.

Everything is counted when the commitment is pure and when it develops faith, along with eagerness to love and to grasp the true meaning of life. Each incarnation is an experience, a step forward and a strength, especially when it is recognised as a teaching necessary for the elevation of the soul.

Opening up while young to the higher reality offers many possibilities. This is how it has been from time immemorial: the incarnate being is inspired and guided in the way most suitable for him or her, often after many difficult experiences. Time brings about changes; a sudden realisation can completely change the course of a life. Such are God's ways; each life is different and provides what is suitable for the blossoming of the soul.

Sometimes, it can take a lot of time and painful experiences to realise what is important here below. "What must be will be"; everyone must face up to their destiny.

No one can change anything about it. To open up to spirituality in its true sense is the goal; advancing with fervour and determination is already a big step forward on the path of wisdom. Hearts that are committed are supported and strengthened. It's up to them to act; we are by their side.
