Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, November 11, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

What is being accomplished here is a blessing for our Mission and for all fervent abhyasis who follow us and trust us. Are they aware of the importance of these writings? Some still reject them, which is quite detrimental to their advancement, as they are setting unnecessary barriers for themselves. Regardless, we cannot force anything. Therefore, let us see only what is beautiful and positive by focusing on what is essential – that is to say, utmost confidence in the Sahaj Marg way that is upheld here below by the living Master. He knows what he is doing and is not limited to the reactions of ego, as unfortunately some people still are after many years of practice.

In the future, these messages will constitute a very valuable asset for our Mission in support of the work of the Being chosen and incarnated to guide this way of the heart, whose importance will be recognised by tomorrow's human beings who by and large will be more refined. Do our abhyasis realise what we offer them, and at all levels? Having a Master here below is a rare opportunity which most humans don't have. This door that is open for them onto the Infinite should encourage them to trust us and become engaged in this process that is uncommon as well as decisive for the rest of their evolution.

The clock is ticking here below. A path full of promise is opening up to today's seeker; it corresponds to the needs of the day, but also to those of tomorrow. A new era is looming on the horizon; humanity is progressing, even though this may not really be apparent today. The beginnings of these future times are being felt; the sensitive and open-minded person can sense them and act accordingly. Blessed are these fervent ones; they are preparing this future race, one that will be enlightened and eager to unite with this divine power, inconceivable to most people, but real to hearts touched by grace.

This is how it is.
