Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, November 21, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

Be at peace against all odds. Our Mission is advancing; isn't that the main thing — and these messages contribute to it. Happy are the simple and generous hearts that give out of love and are detached from this world as far as its negative aspects are concerned. From this world there are, nonetheless, many good things that emerge in favour of this humanity that is both fragile and strong. Good and evil coexist, and our spiritual way stands out by the grace of the divine powers that are attentive to what this planet becomes. Major changes will occur in the future; men will have to reconsider their values and understand the need for progress. This work remains to be done, as many beings regard life with a view that is still so limited to matter. The many subtleties that characterise life are yet to be discovered by most human beings. Slowly, over the centuries, the world has been opening up to knowledge; unfortunately, it remains limited by and large to material objectives. Regardless, reality is there: open minds are progressing and they thus determine what tomorrow will be. A time will come here below when beings are literally transformed, both physically and spiritually.

"These comments may surprise, even shock; humans are so fragile about this approach to reality. Have we not said here again and again that 'What must be will be'? Blessed are those who are open-minded and receptive to the truth that is so well hidden from the eyes of humans. This truth will prevail one day and it will be crucial for their evolution.

"Blessings to all."
