Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, December 4, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

Giving the best of oneself to serve a great cause is an act of love. Your Master illustrates this so very well. Devoting part of one's life to the Divine shows the greatness of a soul. For a very long time, through the centuries, your Master's soul has continued to manifest here below for the glory of that higher power. Motivations change from life to life, but they remain focused on what is essential and are accompanied by the gift of oneself. Serving a great cause in keeping with the times, marking the stages of this glorious journey, is characteristic of a soul destined for a role that is decisive and so important for humanity. Great and beautiful souls thus return to this world to help pull it out of its stagnant spiritual condition. The progress of modern life does not really help one retreat within; too much magnetic turbulence destabilises human beings in the blossoming of their personalities. Interiorisation is not easy; finding moments of peace and silence testifies to a real inner call. Progressing against all odds is a decisive sign in the progress of our aspirants. Their thirst for the Divine drives them to go beyond this attraction, typical of the material world.

Everything is done to attract the attention of human beings. Many get lost in this maze of a superficial world that is alluring in certain ways, to the detriment of their spiritual advancement. Everyone does what they can. Truly committed mystics find time to isolate themselves and cultivate within themselves that which is essential to their evolution.

May all our brothers and sisters be guided and strengthened in their quest for the Divine
