Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, December 26, 2012 – 9:00 a.m.

Very ancient civilisations experienced a sudden reversal whereby everything around them changed completely. Humans adapted themselves, and those efforts made them grow beyond what can be imagined today. Major changes will occur in the future as well; they will be beneficial for humanity, which will then move to another level of consciousness. Everything is counted and measured over time and space; life is reborn differently after substantial changes occur. Evolution on this Earth must go in another direction: that of real awareness and reassessments at every level. Everything will happen in due time. Some beings will be more capable than others in adapting to the situation; they will help those who are having difficulties. Then elevated beings who are able to help ordinary people will come forward. Our spiritual way is preparing people's minds; chosen souls will be more than ever at the service of their fellow humans. In this world, evolution has always gone through phases of transformation and upheavals capable of making humans aware of the importance of each person's behaviour.

Each incarnation offers an opportunity to do one's best, to go towards what is good and the transformation of the being. Sahaj Marg is playing, and will increasingly play, an important role in this domain. Humans of the future will be very different, as much physically as spiritually. Much remains to be done; the divine power will provide for that in due time. Let all do their best, starting right now; in this way they will prepare the new era.

May all be enlightened and blessed.
