My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, December 27, 2012 — 10:00 a.m.

You only have to immerse yourself in us with your heart surrendered; thus is harmony created and the ritual can begin. It will not end; in some manner, it will continue over time. Other ardent hearts will join this meeting, which is luminous and full of love. Messages will be read and our brothers and sisters will feel our presence. The alliance of Masters will remain as it is: attentive to every sincere call. So much love will emerge from these meetings, and they will generate the best. Many of our aspirants delight in these messages; they have understood their importance. They are blessed, and they will reap more and more benefits from these writings, as will our entire Mission. Everything is planned and orchestrated well ahead of time; the divine plans are inescapable, nothing can change their course. Love is a very potent energy — many hearts are touched and transformed by reading our comments.

"Your Master immediately understood the importance of these writings a long time ago. He includes them in his remarks for the benefit of all. Our Mission will leave its mark not only on current times but on future ones as well — those times will be much more focused on a true spiritual process capable of transforming beings and uplifting them to a higher level of consciousness. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être? The purpose of these writings is to help human beings, who will increasingly need them. As humans become more refined, they will discover all the subtlety of these messages and their impact on the heart. That is how it is; may all of you be blessed."

Babuji Maharaj