Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, December 31, 2012 – 10:00 a.m.

A year is ending on this Earth; it was rich in many aspects related to our Mission. Human turbulence is inevitable; power struggles and egos manifest unreasonably, but that is how humanity is and it will not change immediately. Only its positive aspect should be considered here: many souls are rising up, and they benefit from a powerful action within our Mission. The work of its Master knows no rest; beyond human dictates, his action is being pursued against all odds. None of these messages can escape him; his most refined perceptions register the least of our celestial signals. A spiritual Master of this calibre masters the subtle elements, even if his physical strength is no longer what it was 'before'. Our aspirants should rest assured – his guidance cannot fail. Regardless of appearances, nothing can stop that which is to be. The troublemakers are doing harm to themselves; it is time they realised it. The divine plans are inescapable. So many ardent and faithful hearts revere him and respect his choices. Only that beauty is to be considered; it promotes the best for this spiritual way of the present and of the future, when it will be perfectly in tune with higher principles that are constructive in all respects. Isn't it said, "What will be will be"?

Blessed are the pure in heart; they are advancing fervently towards the ultimate goal. In any case, all are supported and helped, and we wish them the best possible at the threshold of this new year here below.
