Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, January 6, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Your strength is diminishing, but your fervour, it does not weaken. You make your life an offering to the Divine. These aspects of yourself remain hidden, and this is how it should be. This sort of asset is immutable and is carried over from one life to another in order to accomplish what is needed in the service of the Divine. The ways of the Divine are unfathomable, so the saying goes. Many of our brothers and sisters have also been acting along these lines, for a long time now.

Blessed are the hearts touched by grace, most of whom have been won over for a very long while. They are working in their own time in the service of a great cause, wherever appropriate. 'Doesn't everything have its raison d'être?' The destiny of each of our brothers and sisters is being carved out as is necessary for their own evolution. Nobody is forgotten or ignored in their trials and everyday struggles. We offer them an approach that allows them, to a certain extent, to go beyond the most obvious marks of their karma. Wisdom cannot be acquired without difficulty; compelling examples have demonstrated this aspect of life in its various expressions.

Our way does not offer continuous miracles, proven facts or spectacular feats, although some situations are beyond human understanding, which is fine. Our action generates its effects. Many transformations are accomplished without their being apparent to human eyes, and this is in accordance with our wishes. We are not interested in grand demonstrations.

May all our brothers and sisters become aware of their true commitment; it leads them on the path to realisation at some point in the future, but be assured that all hopes lie there.
