Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, January 12, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

This series of messages leaves its mark on people's minds; it is consistent with the current events. The whole of these writings, let us repeat it once again, is a valuable asset. They will be better appreciated in the future when people will focus more on spirituality. It will become more important; for many reasons, humans will be motivated to turn to reliable values that are necessary for a balanced life. In that way, they will advance in knowledge: the knowledge of the realities of life beyond purely materialistic principles.

"An incarnation is short compared to eternity; the beneficial qualities acquired from one incarnation to another are a necessary guarantee for the elevation of the being. Each of these experiences has its raison d'être; it takes time to raise the awareness of humans to a reality that is still beyond most of them. Wise are those who can see beyond appearances; life experiences led them, in their current life, to a way of being and of understanding the opportunity granted by the present incarnation. Realising this fact and trying to understand and go deeper into the divine laws testify to an innate wisdom just waiting to express itself. Our abhyasis have this rare opportunity: to follow a spiritual way that has no major constraint. All they have to do is follow a few basic principles and cultivate faith in their Master, together with a love capable of transcending the heaviness of this world with its limitations of all kinds.

"May all our abhyasis be truly committed and see only the good in everyone and everything."
