My child, the message of hope comes from all these souls advancing towards the light, and that are light-like. They are seriously antagonistic to the evil gnawing at the Earth. These luminous points can counterbalance the evil, and they can help to a certain extent. The destiny of the Earth, like that of men, must be achieved; that is the way it goes. Don't become alarmed too much; don't panic for the moment. Let's see how it turns out. There is nothing you can do about it. Pray for the people responsible for this catastrophic situation. They will not necessarily pay for their blunders on this Earth, but these blunders will follow them.

"Creation is so beautiful, from the infinitely great to the infinitely small; there is such perfection in every thing. Take, one by one, the elements created in each kingdom, you will be dazzled by such an amount of beauty, wisdom and logic.

"At the origin of this creation, before man undertook to modify it and thus destroy it, each element was living its own life. Mankind has evolved, but this evolution did not bring it where it had to be. This phenomenon is specific to mankind; the other kingdoms also undergo its [mankind's] excesses and arrogance. The evolution has not taken place in the right direction: for the good of humanity! We repeat it, only spirituality will save the world."
