Whispers from The Brighter World

This wealth of messages is abundant; it is a definite contribution to our Mission. This reading has become an integral part of the spiritual life of many of our abhyasis. Each day, life brings its share of experiences, some of which are more obvious than others. Nothing is useless; joys and sorrows merge and form a necessary whole for human evolution.

For all our brothers and sisters, sadhana is a sure way to advance towards the goal. A profound aspiration brought them to us where a necessary and beneficial advancement can be realised. This quest of the Divine will lead them gradually to the essence of life, to the alleviation of a cumbersome burden and the opening of psychic centres that are necessary for their evolution. This evolution is planned from the outset in the approach that we offer. In truth, it is all simple; nothing is demanding in this practice that is within the reach of each participant who is sufficiently committed. All are progressing in their own manner, though more definitely when done sincerely with genuine heartfelt commitment. Seizing this opportunity in one's incarnation denotes a profound aspiration to unite with the Divine.

We offer a reliable way; many benefit from it and we are happy for that. In the future, when life has become more complicated in many respects, beings who are spiritually committed will have this sacred refuge, one that is unalterable. In those future times, life will not have the same pace as today. Perhaps it will revert to being more attentive to true realities. We cannot anticipate anything; we can only try to bring as many elements as possible to our aspirants for their personal elevation. The results, over time, are very significant.

Whispers from The Brighter World

May the best be accomplished for the good of all. We are contributing to it here, with tenacity and fervour. All the Masters are working accordingly and are united around the incarnate Master, who is continuously supported with love.

May love and peace be established across the entire Mission.
