Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, February 4, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

In our Mission, a celebration like this [the birth anniversary of Grand-Master Lalaji] is also prepared in people's hearts. This preparation precedes the usual rituals made up of a few meditations, and its effects go far beyond. Grand-Master Lalaji is and will remain the beacon of this great spiritual epic that is specific to this age of enlightenment, as you call it.

The light lies elsewhere, in a space where materialism plays no part. This light is unique; pure beings are nourished by it. This is a very special energy from which humanity will one day benefit, when it has changed in the course of its evolution. We are working towards this; each one of our abhyasis who is convinced and truly committed in this action contributes to it. The united Masters are inseparable in an action of this magnitude; the incarnate Master is in some way the receptacle of this power that operates at several levels of consciousness, hence the fact that these messages are known and appreciated beyond this world. This may be astonishing, but that is the reality, even if it is beyond human understanding.

So many truths are ignored; humans have a lot to learn, but the current mindset is opposed to this knowledge. Humans remain attached to old beliefs which they find somehow reassuring.

We cannot force anything in this regard. We can only help – as much as possible – the abhyasis who trust us, to transcend a stage of ignorance which is maintained voluntarily for many reasons. Our way is opening hearts to that very knowledge – isn't it essential on the soul's journey!

Blessed are open-minded people who are able to distinguish truth from falsehood and who are engaged in a true spiritual journey capable of developing the subtlety of each one.

The age of enlightenment will come when highly refined beings will make of this world, if not a place of delights, a more acceptable place for humans who are carried by faith and divine love.

Let us dream of those times, but let us also do our best towards the realisation of that which seems utopian today.

For this divine power, everything is possible.
