Whispers from The Brighter World

Together we have come a long way; this will remain an important axis in our Mission for all those who follow it and understand the profound meaning of our comments. The incarnate Master is doing the needful for that, and he is using different means to ensure that these comments are integrated into our system. Happy are sensitive hearts that are surrendered to his power; they accept his comments and actions as being highly inspired.

"How can someone claim to love one's Master and not respect his choices? This is unfortunate. Many hearts are calling for these writings; they are open-minded and have enough sensitivity to benefit from them — there lies the goal of our action. Nothing in our Mission is done without reason. Some of our decisions may seem surprising, but a high level spiritual Master like yours is constantly inspired by the alliance of Masters who are attentive to his person and to the Mission that is so dear to him. The future of the Mission is secured in this world; its action will be decisive in many respects in the future, when humans will particularly need the refuge of faith and a way capable of uplifting them spiritually.

"Isn't this the true purpose of an incarnation? Reaching a higher level of consciousness is a major asset in the long journey of a soul who is committed and carried towards the ultimate goal, for which each of the abhyasis who trust us are longing.

"We are attentive to their paths and their personal thirst for the Divine; they will not be disappointed. All receive according to their call.

"This is how it goes."
