Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 20, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

When the soul is in ecstasy, the physical body also reaches a level of fullness. In this mad material world, it is good to be able to isolate oneself, to detach oneself from that grossness and to enjoy the life within on a more subtle level. A true spiritual journey gives life another meaning, one more in harmony with the power of the Spirit. A soul fully dedicated to the Divine is haloed with an aura of great beauty. Many beings are on their way and they reach a high level; many of them are in our Mission. The aim of such work is to achieve the best possible results. After all their years of commitment and uprightness towards us, we witness the blooming of beautiful souls. They leave their mark — in a definitive manner — on our divine space, one that has been dedicated to the Sahaj Marg Mission for a very long time.

"Life on Earth and elsewhere is constantly renewed; it is in the order of things. In our Mission, we see to it that each person's needs are met with regard to their spiritual aspirations. Fervent and resolute hearts are fulfilled on this point; we cannot grant them dream lives on the material plane but only satisfy them on the matter we have just mentioned. What would life on Earth be without the prospect of a more heartening elsewhere! On other planes of consciousness, all is not simple, either; all do not access the best — far from it. Hence the need to proceed on a promising path that leads to real progress.

"It is easy to promise paradise, but keeping one's promises is a different matter. Here, we propose a way which is active and effective in achieving realisation in the more or less long term. There lies the truth regarding this process, and we are very happy for that. To all we wish the best, under our blessings."
