Whispers from The Brighter World

You are doing your best, as always — that is important. Acting in all conscience denotes good intentions, the desire to serve while considering what is essential in one's chosen spiritual process. The profound call of a heart is always heard and supported through the implementation of a method capable of answering the call and making the aspirant advance. Perseverance always pays off, even more so here where bonds are established that can transcend matter. We work far beyond, in a framework where the possibilities are great and unique bonds are woven that are capable of transcending what exists here below.

"A path like the one we propose has broad implications for the good of a soul that thirsts for the Divine. It is all done based on a simple consideration, a genuine call directed towards us. It is not always easy for the seeker to take stock, to assess his progress on a journey where he looks forward to the best for his elevation. There are no permanent miracles, but perseverance in this, as in anything, yields sound results. An incarnation is an opportunity granted to man to fulfil himself according to his wishes. Time passes quickly on Earth — this notion is to be considered. Each day offers a possibility for man to make choices; it's up to him to see and act as best as possible.

"We want the best for all; we never remain insensitive to a profound call. Working towards an overall evolution of humanity is a special and critical challenge. The power of the Spirit motivates us accordingly, so that what must happen here below will happen for the good of all humanity. Working for one is working for everyone.

"That is how it is."
