Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, March 1, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be carried by the flow of our love; your heart will then open to the quintessence of the Spirit. This daily communion is a sacred ritual; so it is for all our brothers and sisters committed to this spiritual process that carries our energies. Most of them are advancing without even noticing it; their subtle bodies are being refined, and they increasingly capture what is delightful and unique in what we offer them.

A fervent heart touches us greatly and encourages us to help, to accelerate its progress in the perception of this work that we offer. Our way has this distinctive feature of acting in the secrecy of hearts, according to the call and the love they radiate. All receive and are advancing. Even if some among them stand out, no one is ignored. We want the best for this way of the heart; it has heavenly assets from which many benefit, here below and beyond.

We will not enter into these considerations here, but the work being done on Earth also benefits souls that have moved beyond the boundaries of the material world, where the action performed in our Mission is extended. Many beautiful souls are committed at all levels; this thirst for the Divine will keep growing and will bring this world to another level of consciousness. The attraction of the Divine will only increase in the future, and this motivates us even more. A world that is increasingly 'inhabited' spiritually is the most beautiful and noble prospect possible.

We have no magic wand, but a beneficial action allows us to progress in winning over hearts that are longing for something other than this material life, devoid of grandeur at the most sensitive level of the being.

May all our brother and sister abhyasis rise ever higher, in all subtlety and in perception of the Unalterable Peace – that which justifies this material life, in which continuous trials benefit the elevation of the being when viewed from this perspective. Such is our wish and the goal of our foremost action in this world of matter.

Blessings to all the hearts that are receptive to our action.
