Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, March 3, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

A new chapter is being opened here. What will you write? Which comments will we inspire in you? The feedback about the symbol is very positive and we appreciate it. These young abhyasis have understood what is essential in the relevant framework. They are advancing in the knowledge we offer here to each and everyone in accordance with their personal commitment. The possibilities of this Sahaj Marg Mission are very great, much greater than it would seem; only an adequate degree of open-mindedness allows one to grasp the full extent of it. Our brothers and sisters discover these possibilities throughout their personal advancement, according to their own resources in this area. We are not forcing anything; everyone progresses at their own pace, and a fervent call is always heard. Witnessing the change of a being's condition along with his vibratory elevation in this world — one that is polluted at all levels — is reassuring. Therefore, at the present stage of alarming distress in this world, there is a means to help people to grow, to overcome the current limitations without undue constraints. We ask nothing very demanding; many people spend more time in front of high-tech devices than in the daily repetition of rituals. We propose just what is needed while leading a normal life in which spirituality is granted its rightful place — that is to say, the most important one. Everything else is a consequence of this material world and is far from the essential axis of life — that which continues beyond the current life.

"A time will come when the majority of people will truly become aware of this fundamental 'reality'. Let us work accordingly, by showing in our manner another path to eternal life. Eternal life is not an idle expression; it actually exists beyond the world of matter. May all incarnate beings become aware of it and not neglect that which contributes to their personal elevation.

"Let us all work towards it; such is the goal."
