Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, March 3, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

A new page is opening here. What will you write? What words are we going to inspire in you? This news concerning the symbol is very favourable and we appreciate it. These young abhyasis have understood what is essential in this fitting diagram. They are advancing in the knowledge we offer here to them, as we do to everyone, in accordance with their personal commitment.

The possibilities of this Sahaj Marg Mission are quite vast, much more than it would seem; only an adequate open-mindedness allows one to grasp their full scope. Our brothers and sisters discover these possibilities as they progress personally and as their own resources unfold in this field. We do not force anything; everyone progresses at their own pace, and a fervent call is always heard.

In a world polluted at every level, it is reassuring to witness the change in a person's condition as he or she rises vibrationally. Therefore, at this stage of alarming distress here below, there is a means of helping people grow and overcome the current limitations – a means without undue constraints. We ask nothing very demanding; many people spend more time in front of high-tech devices than in the daily repetition of rituals. We propose just what is necessary while leading a normal life in which spirituality retains its rightful place – that is to say, the most important one. Everything else is a consequence of this material world and is far from the primordial axis of life – the one that continues beyond the current life.

A time will come when the majority of people will truly become aware of this fundamental 'reality'. Let us work in this direction, by showing in our own manner another means of access to eternal life. It is not an empty term; it actually exists beyond the world of matter. May all incarnate beings become aware of this and not neglect that which contributes to their personal elevation.

Let us all work towards this; such is the intended purpose.
