Whispers from The Brighter World

Monday, March 11, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

The road is long, but so rewarding when the incarnate being finds the sacred point, one where he can abundantly quench his thirst. Plunging within oneself in the heart of silence, as you are doing now, is it not a delight! The rigours of life in this world smooth themselves out and give way to tranquility, to a deep-seated and unparalleled joy. Is it not the noblest way to lend satisfactory balance to everyday life! A fulfilled soul generates joy and the availability needed to meet the demands of the material world. Our abhyasis have that advantage. They are guided on this path, which is difficult but promising when the heart is sufficiently won over and gives in to delight.

"Perseverance inevitably leads to this. A call is always heard; the Master's power and the aspirant then form a whole in which the divine energy operates in its own manner, depending on the request. It's up to each one to find inside himself that Eden, the unequalled place of delight. A motivated seeker manages to reach it. Many souls are seeking sometimes without really realising it.

"There is every hope for success. The road is long, but all can achieve the goal — all it takes is to be willing, and to act accordingly. Here, we offer an approach and a special method. It is up to all to realise it and to act upon it. One day, the divine goal will be achieved — there lies the sublime reward. All are monitored and guided accordingly. This is how it is."
