Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, March 14, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

The universal language is that of the heart; in this, we are understood by all our readers. Many are not abhyasis and they are nourished by our words, which indicates their attraction at this level. Words are important; they clarify ideas and emit a vibration that touches the hearts of our readers. This is the most important thing. As we have already said, this is not a literary work; in the area that matters to us, simplicity is key. A more intellectual style would distract people's attention from what is truly most important in this matter of the heart.

Some readings may be likened to a form of meditation, since they activate the psychic centres.

Doesn't everything have its raison d'être!' Everything is counted, measured, one might say, in a spiritual process like this. Our words, although very simple, are not insignificant; they target a specific objective, and they achieve it, when one considers the effects produced. We are able here to assess what we propose in all things. We see only the progress of our aspirants; therefore let us hope that these writings will be appreciated more and more. That would be the least that could be done as a token of gratitude towards the incarnate Master, holder of the sacred powers which are granted to him, and which he disseminates to help the greatest number, as we all wish.

All that is done here is for the good. Life sometimes jostles people, even in its most subtle manifestations, but this is in keeping with the ultimate goal, and everything is being done to achieve it.

We wish the best to all and a growing open-mindedness for the good of each one and for the expansion of our Mission through its impact on hearts.
