Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, March 16, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Visualise the heart of the heart and let yourself be carried on the waves of serenity – there, only beauty captivates your soul and fosters this state of receptivity. Our relationship is very privileged; do not feel embarrassed to write it – this is the way it is, one could say. It facilitates these many contacts and the messages that arise from them. This fact is unique in history, in terms of the amount and intensity of writing. Love is expressed throughout these lines; it is the driving force and the very essence of these writings. Our attentive readers perceive it, and that is an indication that they have a certain degree of sensitivity to what emanates from our hearts in order to touch theirs. The hidden treasure of human beings is there, in them; it is precious and delicate in its essence, but also powerful in its force of action.

Without this major resource, what would humans be and how could they be distinguished from matter! This vibration is unique and creative in its essence. Let us emphasise this point: a spiritual approach like ours aims to open the psychic centres and give them full scope to move towards a significant expansion according to the deep yearning of the subtle being. Nothing can be forced, but encouraging this progression brings to light, in each of our practitioners, their true potential and capacity to advance. It is beautiful to see a soul opening to this splendour, one that nothing here below can tarnish.

The road is long for all, but in some way the path is marked out by the constant love and blessings we lavish on the entire Mission, and on each of our brothers and sisters.

This is how it is.
