Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, May 19, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

Let your heart exude its fragrances. They are imbued with our love and they reach their target gradually. Such vibrations can be sensed by the whole being, and there lies the sublime reward, unique in its essence. This special communion has generated these many messages that are imbued very subtly [with our love], which is felt by sensitive souls touched by grace. These writings are of a rare essence. Blessed are the hearts that are capable of grasping the benefits; they are so very blessed."
