Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, May 21, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Time is at work in all things; thus is fulfilled the destiny of each and every human being and the planets where they are evolving in order to successively make their way to the Ultimate.

An incarnation is planned in that way and no one can escape it. Doesn't everything have its raison d'être? Sorrows and joys are part of this scheme which human beings cannot comprehend. The mysteries of the world of the Spirit are unknown to humans, yet current incarnations depend on them. Following a spiritual path like ours aligns a person with what is essential, and there lies the positive aspect of this noble conquest of hearts that so greatly motivates us all. It is necessary for the good of humanity which has lost its bearings as true values are increasingly ignored. That is the sad reality.

Blessings to all.
