My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, July 24, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

All is well for this Sahaj Marg Mission. We have already said that it will leave its mark on these times in the most beautiful manner, and that in the future, it will stand as a way adapted to the understanding of beings who will be evolving little by little towards a more accurate and comprehensive awareness of reality. Nothing happens without a reason. Humanity is advancing very slowly, but one day there will be an awakening and the multitude will open up to knowledge that is the most important and decisive for every human being's open-mindedness. It takes very long periods of time to transform humanity so that it can attain a higher level of consciousness.

"Important gatherings, such as the one taking place on this special day in our Mission, raise the vibratory frequency of beings, thus making them more capable of receiving that which is being generated far and wide for their benefit: a special transmission in line with our wishes. So, regardless of where they are, our abhyasis who are dedicated to this spirit of contemplation and love for the Master receive the best. These surges of love are very beneficial to our Mission as a whole; they are, in some way, received in a manner that is proper here.

"All is well for our very great son and for the entire Mission that receives the most sublime gifts on these special days. Let us remain united in this beautiful vibration and celebrate our dearest son and the whole Mission, under our very special blessings."

Babuji Maharaj