Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, August 9, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

Nothing is perfect in this world — one must put up with all that an incarnation has in store on all levels. Going on a spiritual journey allows one to begin a new episode and set aside the time and space to move to another level of consciousness more capable of giving relief. It is a long-lasting relief, one that prepares for a future more in line with the yearning of the soul. The goal is to grow, against all odds.

"Life does not cease to disturb the human being, who grapples with the material plane and all the disruptive elements associated with it. Interiorising oneself, uniting with the Divine in every aspect proposed by this path, reduces everyone's burden, even if not everything can be averted. Some experiences are needed for humans to be able to grow, to understand what is essential as well as the purpose of all things. It takes time, from life to life, to realise what an incarnation really is in terms of the opportunity it offers to divest oneself of the unnecessary. There is so much to do in that regard; when a human being really becomes aware of the extent to which time is running out and the fact that awakening is there, all hopes are permitted. Following a spiritual way like this opens up opportunities that many people do not have. Happy are those who are eagerly committed and acting as best they can. A sincere call is always heard, whatever the outcome may be.

"The best to all under the guidance of the living Master and the entire hierarchy."
