My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, August 16, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

Plunge into yourself, in this place of delight where your soul is happy. Could it have any better prospect in these blessed moments! The reading of these messages can lead to this state, when the comments are properly received. Reading and understanding is one thing; going beyond, the entire being is nourished. How to precisely explain that which cannot be described? Fervent abhyasis manage, according to their current receptivity, to capture all the subtlety of vibration that can be released by these writings. They are not given in vain. From time immemorial, the written word has been a valuable asset for the most ancient spiritual ways. Human beings have always needed points of reference and so will it be tomorrow. However advanced it may be, humanity of the future will have the same rituals and the same soul aspirations determined by this Higher Power that is leading the soul to the shores of the sacred — the soul that is driven by its unquenchable thirst for the Divine. Every being has within themselves this treasure, but they have yet to become aware of it and to ensure that they push themselves to the limit in view of their personal achievement.

"The only purpose of these writings is to bring the reader to the appropriate stage of evolution in a spiritual way such as ours, where the outlook for it is very promising. Each receives according to their request. May all our abhyasis go to the essentials without wasting time. Such is the goal of our continuous work."

Babuji Maharaj