Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, September 4, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

The imitations of the messages do not in any way carry our energies. This is something to consider; we wanted to clarify this point. In addition to their content, these messages hold a valuable benefit, a vibratory potential that can be felt by beings who are sensitive to a subtle approach to phenomena. Everything is vibration in this world; this unique aspect is not recognised as it should be in the current state of affairs. All sacred texts of the past also have this richness. They endure over time, as they are recorded in the sacred ledgers.

Many mysteries are yet to be uncovered by humans of today. Not everything can be revealed now, but the future will enlighten humanity on sensitive matters that are extremely important for universal balance. Such notions are beyond human beings of today. A spiritual way like ours subtly prepares spiritual beings for their future condition. They will have to adapt to situations that are new for them; this vibratory world will intensify its action and lead them to another state of consciousness. Blessed are those who are preparing themselves to access this state more easily. Following such a spiritual path is the best guarantee one has in this truly unique situation.

May all our brothers and sisters have a heart sufficiently open and consider this aspect. This teaching is richer than it seems. It is up to each one to understand and to act.

This is how it is.
