Whispers from The Brighter World

Friday, September 13, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

In these unique moments of heavenly communication, forget the worries that are inherent in this world. Here, time stops, and the only thing that exists is this contact, through which the best takes place. All the beautiful letters from our abhyasis show you how much these writings can touch beautiful souls who are thirsty for the special energy these messages exude. Appreciating them is an indication of a satisfactory state of subtlety and open-mindedness. We do not give these messages in vain, as you know very well. A little more time is necessary before this long journey comes to an end and this heavenly manna, destined to win hearts, is exhausted.

This way of the heart is endowed with more than one asset – are abhyasis really aware of this? We can see their progress, and it delights us. All these years of action and perseverance have created a very significant vibratory force; it is recorded in the ledgers of time and will leave a strong mark on this transitional century, heralding a decisive future for the evolution of humanity. Nothing is useless here below; sometimes it is necessary to hit bottom before a situation can really change. The situation of this world is saddening, but there is ample reason for hope. Working towards the development of an era of peace and love – isn't this a grand project full of promise! Such promise is capable of motivating pure and determined hearts to achieve for themselves the noblest of goals here below.

Endless blessings.
