Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, September 15, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

Can this be repeated too often – it does not seem so: love here below is the one and only true treasure whose precious memory remains over time. A life based on this principle leaves traces and is resumed in subsequent incarnations. A beautiful spiritual path attracts hearts; it is like a productive hive, capable of generating the best within and around itself. No one can be forced to commit themselves to it; this propensity to love is revealed over time when the soul exudes its delightful fragrance.

It can take time in a person's life to understand where the most important thing lies. Embarking on this path of the heart brings joy to the whole being, to that which lives on beyond this world and retains the most subtle imprints of divine manifestation. Everything is carefully recorded and constitutes the secret archives of the personality embodied in these multiple returns to this Earth and elsewhere, according to its specific projects. All this may seem very mysterious, and yet in truth, everything is simple.

There is a reason for everything, and this explains the need to accept whatever is good or evil in the eyes of human beings. Surrender is the strength of true mystics, those who see themselves in the hands of higher powers that are attentive to the fate of each person. Life is one and indivisible; it forms a whole, a configuration that is immense in the face of eternity. This discourse may seem very abstract, and yet these words reflect a reality – one that is necessary, if not easy, for humans to understand.

Blessings to all.
