My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, September 21, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

A beautiful love story has brought about the transcription of these messages over so many years. Only impulses of the heart such as these could, over time, have generated such high quality writings. These messages constitute a precious treasure for our Mission. They truly come from the heart of the Masters who are united in this productive process which is blessed by higher powers. Beings who are receptive to this sublime energy are blessed; they should not doubt it. Over time the Mission is making progress. It has many assets — first and foremost a high level Master. This well-established tradition has been there since the beginning of this divine initiative, whose intention is to help humanity in present and future times.

"A great deal of suffering characterises this world, which could make so much progress if people were willing to open their eyes to the reality of an Earthly incarnation. Before this world can resemble an Eden, many lessons will have to be learned. It does not help that humanity has lost its true sense of values. There is so much to do in this current era of constant turmoil so detrimental to human equilibrium. May we contribute, to the extent of our work, that which has been entrusted to us: helping the many hearts who suffer, even more than they comprehend. There is a time for everything. One day, may everything here below be turned in the right direction, leading to a new order that will be beneficial for all."

Babuji Maharaj