Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, September 25, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

We are pleased to see the growing impact of these messages on people's hearts. They will grow in importance and will become a reference in our Mission, beyond today's imagining. Everything happens in due time. Our way has multiple resources; so is it now and so will it be in the future, when many aspects will become clearer concerning an entire teaching, more profound and subtle than it seems today. "Doesn't everything have its raison d'être." It is up to all our brothers and sisters to motivate themselves, to put aside differences and character traits that might hinder their progress. None of these are worth the trouble – an incarnation is short in the face of eternity.

Such an approach can bring about many positive elements and enable each abhyasi to have a more accurate view of things. All have to struggle. Relying on the incarnate Master is important, but it is also necessary to make sufficient effort to ensure that the whole being is strengthened. Human weaknesses can curtail this journey; may all knowingly do their best. Such efforts are very productive when the commitment is sincere. We are happy to see an increasing number of noble souls among our brothers and sisters who are on the way to the best that can be. May light dawn in everyone, making our aspirants more determined than ever to move towards the goal; there lies the objective to be achieved, aided by our special blessings.
