Whispers from The Brighter World

The divine energy manifests itself wherever and whenever it sees fit. As regards these messages, they are more important than our abhyasis can imagine today. So has it always been; only time prepares people's minds for that which will come and establish itself here below. Seemingly simple comments can hold a treasure for the heart that receives them with love and surrender to the inner Master. The framework of the Sahaj Marg Mission includes this principle: it can be said that the living Master is the great organiser who promotes and enables substantial progress for all those who participate in the Great Work.

"Our Mission will defy time; it is being built gradually and will assert itself even further in the future, when humans will find themselves reduced to the essentials after the great upheavals that are coming to the Earth. From time immemorial, the refuge of faith has always been available when needed, especially in special circumstances when humanity's conception of life has proven irrelevant. Nothing is certain — ever — and this is to be borne in mind. The immutable lies inside, in the depths of the being, and it deserves a very special approach. This celestial good is a heavenly treasure of the highest importance and warrants special consideration. Blessed are those who understand this and act accordingly. All our abhyasis have that potential, which unfolds under our ceaseless action. The best to all."
