It is advisable to leave some written instructions in a separate place from these messages, as I have asked you recently. Sometimes humans like to do (exactly) as they please; things need to be specified on paper. Then, they will follow their destiny; that will no longer be our business. They will be appreciated or not, it is the fate also reserved for our books. We come to this Earth, we sow some seeds and life takes them over, and does of them as it sees fit. Life on the Earth is so short, so fragile; take it for what it is: a transitory incarnation, where you cannot change everything, and set up everything as per your wish. It is necessary, in certain circumstances, to put up with the facts as well as Mother Nature's decisions.

"God has his own plans; ours are mere sketches, which the wind often sweeps away like a wisp of straw. Therefore, in anything, you should surrender to the divine Providence. Your surrender will be quite useful; your non-resistance will spare you blows and bumps.

"Let life operate as it sees fit, you cannot tame it; it is it that tames, it has full powers. Never think you can dominate it, you would face big disappointments.

"Go on your way by doing as best you can; we help you to get the best, irrespective of whether you find it attractive or not. Appearances are deceptive. You all should keep heart."
