Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, December 5, 2013 – 10:00 a.m.

This future high place of Sahaj Marg delights all of us here; it will be charged with a very special energy that will be perceivable to most of our abhyasis and far beyond. We are truly happy for that. The site is already a special place, and time will reveal its absolutely exceptional potential. Blessed are those who will understand it and take full advantage of this cosmic charge, unprecedented in Sahaj Marg and any other place. Such are the divine plans; they always hold surprises. Our way is a highly chosen one. May all understand this and seize the opportunity to benefit from a place greatly blessed by the higher powers. That is how it is!
