Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, December 31, 2013 — 10:00 a.m.

This moment of contact is a blessing for your heart. It allows you to overcome your suffering and unleash these surges of love that are redeeming, and that make you forget what can be forgotten. No path is easy; each one is adapted to the person who follows it. Doing one's best in everything is the right approach, one that opens doors giving access to another dimension. Each one, within their ability, appreciates being able to follow a spiritual path that provides some basis for a transformed life — however simple the path may seem.

"God's ways are unfathomable; everything must be accepted, and that is not always easy. Even the strongest are often confused in the face of adversity. Blessed are those who have this sacred refuge linking them to higher powers. It makes it easier for them to put up with life and to act, as far as possible, in a state of acceptance of what is. It is not a simple matter for humans to adapt to the conditions of the material world. Each incarnation provides diverse experiences; when these are faced properly, they allow one to progress and to become refined for the sake of future experiences — each has its raison d'être. It is wise to accept this and even to be grateful for the opportunity thus granted to succeed in life. May all our abhyasis do their best and understand the need to accept that which is. Let them be blessed and strengthened in the face of tests, as in any situation that is conducive to their spiritual elevation."
