My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, January 18, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

This long history of messages will not end; it will live on in fervent hearts and nourish them according to their call. These writings have already provided great help and will continue to do so well into the future. Their action will carry on; they are so very blessed and desired by the higher hierarchy in charge of our spiritual way. Even human barriers are of little consequence in certain circumstances, as nothing can impede the progress of this teaching in human hearts. Our entire Mission benefits from this. God's ways are unfathomable and human beings must abide by His laws. How can anyone in our Mission minimise the growing impact these writings have on many of our aspirants? It can take time to accept a principle — this one is a precious asset for all hearts aspiring for the Divine.

"Human evolution is very slow, and we are working accordingly for the best. One day the divine purpose will be achieved, as has often been said. Our ceaseless action is geared in that direction for the good of all our brothers and sisters who trust us. Without trust, how can one respect the action of the living Master and make real progress? Faith and surrender are crucial in this process; forces must be joined at all levels to achieve the best. Do our most fervent abhyasis truly weigh the impact of such a divinely willed and sustained action? May all become truly aware of the opportunity offered to them and not neglect it. May they be enlightened and blessed."

Babuji Maharaj