Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, February 8, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

You have the refuge of love — is it not a precious treasure? If all human beings were willing to consider this potential, the world would be very different. Some people possess it more than others, but all have this potential in them, in each of their cells — the sublime power of the Divine. Being able to accurately discern it testifies to a very real need to be nourished by it. It is unparalleled. Proceeding on a spiritual path is the means of generating the best and achieving the desired result, as long as one is determined. Humans have the privilege of rising and reaching levels of consciousness whose call they feel but cannot really define. Finding the way, the one that suits the need of a given person, is a real opportunity here below. The heart has its reasons, those that determine the spiritual development of each individual; it can take time to realise the importance of such a discovery. Humans are continuously caught in this illusory process that manifests on the material plane. It is not easy for them to make sense of things and to understand where to go to find fulfilment. One day the divine goal will be attained, but much remains to be done in terms of the efforts required for the best to be achieved. Nothing can be obtained without difficulty. Persevering with faith and determination leads one in the right direction. Our abhyasis are making progress — do they realise it? It does not seem so, as some are still wandering and exhibiting attitudes that are not favourable. Alas, nobody is perfect; if it were otherwise, that would have been noticed and we would not have to work relentlessly for the good of all."
