Whispers from The Brighter World

Our abhyasis represent the diversity of races. Coming from multiple origins, they form a whole, a major mystical group, where all these aspects are to be respected. All have their own background; they are what they are, and what they do within the Mission allows them to fit into this spiritual movement capable of overcoming various aspects of life. Everyone is equal before the divine power, before the incarnate Master who manifests that power within our Mission.

Humans sometimes have certain behaviours and traits that are inevitable in a society where perfection does not exist. It takes time for human beings to acknowledge their weaknesses and to act accordingly. Following a spiritual path helps to some extent to change what needs changing, but nothing is simple; neither is Sahaj Marg spared in this respect. To see only the beautiful is wise. Striving to divest oneself of all that is unnecessary helps the aspirant advance, but one must really want to do so. The method is effective; it is up to each and every one to consider their potential and to manage as best as possible the different aspects of their personalities.

A spiritual Master does not perform constant miracles. He has no magic wand to solve all the problems of our faithful abhyasis. Everything possible is done for all; it is up to everyone to fend for themselves as needed on the material plane. The being's profound yearning to progress should enable him or her, with the constant help of the Masters, to reach the desired level. Everything is being done accordingly. May all be sufficiently motivated to achieve the desired goal, with our endless blessings.
