Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, February 13, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Repetition is necessary. Is it not the very principle of life in all its manifestations! It shapes the human being's development on the material and spiritual planes. As for the other paths that can help humans progress at this level, do they have recourse to anything else? Repetition helps aspirants in their practice – it does not require much, only what is necessary to reach the goal with the appropriate commitment of heart. Isn't the heart the seat of the soul? What is most essential is accomplished there, prior to a very subtle process that goes well beyond matter.

It takes quite some time to become fully aware of all these aspects, which are decisive in a process of this kind. The method proposed in our path goes far beyond rituals on the material plane. Sahaj Marg, in its great simplicity, has remarkable effects on beings who are truly invested and aware of the advancement it generates. All benefit from a subtle and promising work; to be truly involved is the best guarantee of success at this level. Was it not said, "Draw me, we will run after thee"? The effects of this attraction are revealed in our Mission as it spreads throughout the world. This is only the beginning; its action is growing in hearts during this era of transition, and preparing times that will be more open to the subtlety of a spiritual approach. Everything takes place slowly here below, and what must be will be; the divine laws operate at the appropriate time and as needed. Humanity has reached a tipping point where everything will inevitably collapse, to be rebuilt on new foundations. This is self-evident, and it will be accomplished for the good of all; we are working at it, in the hope of a better world.
