Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, February 19, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

All these years of contact have made it possible to capture these messages; they are a valuable asset for our Mission – let us emphasise this once again – and they will remain an important teaching for it. The future will lead humans to a more accurate view of phenomena and to a reality that so far has eluded them, as they are lacking elements that would convince them. Many upheavals will occur in the future, allowing humans to advance in knowledge. Everything happens so slowly here below; we cannot go beyond the rules constituting the current way of life and state of open-mindedness. Centuries of obscurantism have restricted this world to a limited understanding of the principles that are essential to life as a whole. Minds are opening up slowly, but the process is underway to lead humans towards a reality that totally escapes them today. Helping minds change, leading them to a more balanced view of things without any taboos, would allow a significant step forward.

"We do not want to shock, but only to make our abhyasis conscious of the fact that humanity still has much to discover about its own reality. All human beings follow a path they do not really know. The major indications concerning their destiny are revealed to them gradually, as they grow older on a path that is their own but still not really known to them. Such is the mystery of life, and one must put up with it, complying with its laws. Trying to do one's best in all things, for the sake of others and oneself, is a sign of wisdom. Everyone is helped according to their call and degree of surrender to the higher powers, as well as to the Master they have chosen to help them progress. This is how it goes."
