Whispers from The Brighter World

Saturday, March 1, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

There is a time for everything. Life — that of humans and all that lives here below — is made up of rituals. Such are the rules, and nothing can be changed about these laws. The established order is flawless; without this rigour, total disorder would reign on Earth. Humans are increasingly responsible for disrupting the overall balance, and this is a concern. The problem is growing and it seems nothing will stop the frenzy of 'discovery', unless the elements themselves one day undertake to put everything in place, in order for it to set off once more in another direction. Some discoveries and inventions help mankind, but others destroy it — this is an established and irreversible fact. The true recourse of human beings is, and will always remain, the same — that is, their own upliftment. What each one is able to do on a personal level contributes to the general evolution. Every effort made in this direction is important, and nothing is useless in this area where everything counts.

"Following a spiritual way as we propose attracts other seeking souls who are destabilised by the turbulence of this world. How can people find their bearings here below without some secure landmarks? It can be unsettling to follow one's own path, with all the uncertainties it holds in so many areas. Faith is, and will remain, the true beacon of a spiritual journey. It helps one find one's bearings and progress on the path of life on Earth and beyond, under the continual action of the Master, who is supported by the entire hierarchy. May all our brothers and sisters keep faith in us and in the hierarchy, and move forward with conviction and fervour in this way of the heart, so rich and promising in its effects. All are supported, helped and blessed unceasingly."
