Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, March 12, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Let yourself be carried – forget the world in these moments when our hearts communicate. What we have here is much more than written messages; they elevate the soul in a way not easily imagined on the human level. Why would we give them for so many years if they did not convey 'messages' more subtle than they appear to be. Very refined beings perceive them accordingly; in any case, the messages play their role, one that is not insignificant. Humans still have so much to learn. We insist that these documents be preserved for the future, when an entirely different approach to spirituality will be taken. A large part of humanity will have completely evolved, and these documents will be studied for what they reveal about current times. The great upheavals to come will also bring positive elements, including a more subtle approach to phenomena that are currently misunderstood.

Ancient civilisations knew what most people today are unaware of. People have no idea of the level of consciousness attained by certain extraordinary beings who have left on this Earth many sites, whose reality is not grasped by the most discerning people of today. So many discoveries are yet to be made here below, and they will leave the specialists dumbfounded by an astonishing truth. Spiritual growth is one of the ways to access true wisdom, which has marked this world since the dawn of time by leaving enigmas that modern humans have not resolved. This time of enlightenment will come, and all will understand the need to progress in order to fill a lack; this will be necessary in order to achieve a much greater understanding of phenomena. Only spectacular progress on the part of beings can open up this unique space of enlightenment for them, under our blessings.
