Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, March 12, 2014 – 6:00 p.m.

May all our abhyasis be reassured. Many are currently wondering about the future of this beautiful and great Sahaj Marg Mission. The previous Masters and the current Master have given it all its prestige, and our son's successor is already well trained to ensure continuity. Our aspirants must be confident: fundamentally, nothing will change for the continuation of this spiritual path, unique in its effects. The alliance of Masters here is careful to maintain what has long been planned for the good of humanity. When our dearest and great son joins us, everything will continue as before.

Some will create disturbances; they are already doing so, in order to unsettle and trouble people's minds. These truly sad attitudes are deplorably egotistical and lacking any moral sense. May all rest assured – higher powers will, in their own manner, remedy these deplorable behaviours. The Mission is making its way; unfortunately, it has to face the human reality, with all that is negative and truly saddening about it .

When the day of their Master's departure comes, our abhyasis will understand that it is time for him to find the peace and comfort of his Masters. His successor will do his best, and he too will promote the expansion of this Mission according to what has been intended and planned for it. Against all odds, what must be will be – nothing and no one can thwart the divine plans. This is how it is. May all become aware of it and be blessed.
