Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, March 12, 2014 – 7:00 p.m.

We draw the attention of all our abhyasis to the profile of the Mission, as it is today and as it will be tomorrow. The divine laws are all-powerful; they decide, and humans must accept, lest they create many torments for themselves. Certain precedents are sufficiently eloquent on the subject. Following my departure, our dear Parthasarathi suffered dearly from the actions of some people who lacked common sense.

Nothing is ever simple here below – we know this only too well. It is our wish that when our beloved son comes to join us one day, everything will fall into place normally, as planned, with his successor. Prepared for a very long time under our care, our son's successor will be ready to take on his heavy task. Our help will contribute to this, as it should in our Mission, where the Masters support and inspire each other. Patience and wisdom are the strong points of an incarnate Master, the bearer of our energies and of the appropriate power of action. Nothing is ever easy on this Earth, but the Masters are surrounded by chosen beings, who support them in their heavy task. May our great son carry on until the end – our love carries him constantly.
