Whispers from The Brighter World

Tuesday, March 18, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

We will be brief today. Important information about our Mission has been given in recent days; what ensues will allow us to assess what needs to be done for the Mission's welfare. Everything is taken into account, especially in this area. We place a high value on harmony in this vast spiritual movement, where egos inevitably manifest and do not always appreciate our decisions. That is the way humans are, and it cannot be otherwise in this material world, characterised by incessant turbulence.

As far as our abhyasis are concerned, may they all consider, first and foremost, their advancement and way of being, and that which can foster their personal evolution. Meanness does not contribute to this. We are not being judgemental; we simply wish, for the good of each one and of our Mission, to draw everyone's attention to these aspects which are essential to the proper functioning, on the human plane, of this path – one that is so important for all our aspirants. May each of them re-examine themselves if necessary; it is up to them to determine, objectively and sincerely, what must be done, for their own good and that of Sahaj Marg. All are followed and helped according to need. Trials and suffering are inevitable; the greatest have never been spared, and this is not about to change. May each of our aspirants fully realise themselves, in a state of inner joy and harmony – such is our fervent wish.
