My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, 20 March 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

Nothing is ever simple in this world where disturbances sometimes allow for necessary readjustments. A spiritual way is not spared; this is in the order of things, one might say. Nothing is created, nor does anything evolve, without turmoil. Sometimes it is precisely this turmoil that helps clarify events. As we said before, our Mission is expanding across the continents. Thanks to modern means of communication, this achievement has not taken centuries. One way or the other, that which the higher powers want is accomplished. What must be will be; our Mission has been proof of this for many years. A thread is being followed — the alliance of Masters who protect this Mission sees to it. Being thus monitored, the Mission is advancing; it produces in hearts that which is necessary for the welfare of the organisation on both the human and spiritual planes.

"This path is important; its impact continues to grow and is not about to end. The current era calls for changes involving a necessary rigour. Disorder is not constructive, however it sometimes allows for readjustment in a line of action; such readjustment is necessary and conducive to the very special work being done in this way of the heart whose effects are very subtle. This Mission does not exist in vain. It will definitely leave its mark on the current transitional period between the world as it is and as it will become in the future; this will be for the good, and with a view to true human evolution. More than ever, the need is arising to change many aspects of this world. The higher powers operate in their own way, and it is not always to the liking of humans. In this area, trust and surrender are more desirable than ever. Blessings to all."

Babuji Maharaj