Whispers from The Brighter World

Sunday, April 27, 2014 – 10:00 a.m.

Without perseverance, nothing great would be accomplished on this Earth. It is indispensable in everything, and the same applies to our path. Perseverance is the basis of the heart's commitment, with reference to the incarnate Master and the hierarchy of those who represent our way.

All the Masters are to be venerated; under no circumstances should they be forgotten, as without them this Mission would not exist. They have been chosen to institute on this Earth a spiritual movement that will leave its mark on current and future times. The new era will have other requirements, in all respects, and it will call for concrete results. Devotion is an important element, and it must be based on real facts and results, visible or not; our practice contributes greatly to it, as this path is a package of positive points that are unparalleled. It is not easy to grasp its full importance, and nothing should be neglected in these simple acts that are good to repeat regularly in order to obtain the best results. This practice is a whole, crowned by the work of the incarnate Master and his heavenly and divine helpers who support him in his heavy task.

Are our abhyasis aware of the opportunity offered to them in a material world that is afflicted in so many respects? The most important thing for them is this escape towards a world of peace and love, a world where nothing comes to tarnish and destroy the divine harmony. We wish the best to all – these unique perspectives opening wide horizons onto a beyond whose promises are real, apart from the fanciful stories often invented in this world.

Peace and success to all; such is our wish.
