My Beloved Master
Revered Babuji Maharaj

Whispers from The Brighter World

Thursday, May 1, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

We have given enough information to meet the demand of all our abhyasis concerning the future of our Mission. When our dear son rejoins us, the next Master — already long prepared to succeed him — will take over. The Mission will carry on; in the centuries to come, several generations and more will receive this teaching that is redeeming and effective beyond appearances. Our way is already aligning itself gradually with the vibratory level of the future. The basic teaching will remain, and it will be enhanced, shall we say, over time, according to the parameters that will characterise the era.

"Our Mission will adapt to circumstances with its great capabilities such as would amaze today's abhyasi. This teaching is not static; it evolves imperceptibly over time, and it will no longer be the same in the centuries to come. Rather, it will be in line with the characteristics belonging to that world. Our brothers and sisters of today are the pioneers of this multifaceted Mission whose magnitude and power of action will be revealed with time. The next Master will take up the torch and he will manage this Mission as appropriate, just as all of us, including our dear Parthasarathi, have amply done. Each Master has his specific place and will remain a part of history; none of the Masters should be neglected. This Mission is the result of an unprecedented action here below, and it will remain exemplary for ever and ever. You all should be happy to participate in this major spiritual movement, which, in spite of its discretion, will influence this time beyond your imagination. That is how it goes."

Babuji Maharaj