Whispers from The Brighter World

These rituals are in keeping with the times, since at this level, they form a sacred chain that contributes to the building and greatness of our Mission. Everything has its importance; seminars must be held on a regular basis to maintain the flame. Is there anything better than these major events and group meditations to strengthen what already exists and give it further momentum? Becoming truly aware of the greatness of this spiritual movement leads to a deeper commitment. Everything is done at our level for the advancement of this Mission and to strengthen it on its already firm foundations. The future will give it a choice place; it will be recorded on the same ledger as the great paths that have already influenced this world. This way is adapted to current times and will fully comply with future times. Solid and structured in its underlying principle, it will evolve depending on the circumstances and meet the growing expectation of fervent hearts. All the notions so often mentioned here will grow in the collective consciousness.

"Spirituality is the basis of any evolution — it is much more necessary to human beings than they think. It develops them steadily, at levels which they cannot even imagine, as they don't know their innermost nature, whose complexity is much greater than it seems. The approach proposed in our way enables them to advance towards what is decisive for them, for the rest of their spiritual upliftment. The complexity of human nature is great, most of the time hiding from people the gem that is inside them. Our method helps them refine it and give it its sparkle — such is the divine purpose."
