Whispers from The Brighter World

Wednesday, May 28, 2014 — 10:00 a.m.

Punctuality is desirable in this kind of rendezvous in which divine love generates this transmission. These writings emanate from this power. Channelling capabilities are necessary, but not sufficient. Our choices are not made in vain; this is how it is, shall we say once again.

"In our own manner, we deliver a teaching on which future times will be nourished. The abhyasis need such sustenance, and those who recognise and appreciate it are blessed. They have access to a vibrational level that accelerates their perception of the unique transmission provided by the living Master. Such phenomena are not easily understood by humans, but it is a fact and our Mission stands out in that respect. Other methods will be used in the distant future. This is not for tomorrow; we only intend to emphasise here the present means possessed by our way in view of that distant prospect.

"Our way sets its sights very high and very far into the future. In this area, predictions are valid; they are not based on probabilities, but rather rely on will expressed at the highest level. This way is blessed — we can say it here — and it will contribute to the advancement of humankind; so is it wanted and so will it be. In this way, surrender to the Divine produces wonderful effects. Blessings to all."
